

Product Development Procurement and Supply Management

SKELMERSDALE, LANCASHIRE

Established in 1982, Flowtech Group is the 'Premier' catalogue provider for Fluid Power and Industrial products, with an expanding presence within Europe.

Its business philosophy is clear; it aims to be 'Number 1 for Service'.

Trading from its custom built 125,000 sq ft Distribution Centre in Skelmersdale, Lancashire, with Group Companies located in Birmingham and Amsterdam, Flowtech Group provide an extensive range of quality products with a reputation for delivering service excellence to its Customers.

As a key member of the Buying team, you will work closely with the Sales, Procurement and Marketing teams, to identify and source new products and suppliers, which will involve market research; contract negotiation; the development of promotional literature and the maintenance of supplier contracts, data bases and records.

Preferably, you will possess an in-depth technical knowledge of hydraulic, pneumatic and industrial products used within the Fluid Power industry, in addition to retaining any relevant engineering qualifications. To support these, you should also demonstrate the necessary interpersonal, communication, computer skills and relevant industry experience to negotiate and build effective working relationships at the highest corporate levels.

Primarily office based in Skelmersdale, but involving business travel both in the UK and abroad, salary and benefits include pension and life assurance, commensurate with the experience of the successful candidate.
